Columbus

Saratoga High School baseball club came to Columbus Wednesday afternoon and trounced the local nine to a count of 7 to 4. Fewer errors were made in this game than in the game in the slash between the teams a week ago. The score was three all at the end of the last half of the 7th inning when Saratoga came back and knocked Rosenbaum for 4 runs in eighth. Columbus failed another score to it could not overcome the big lead. Wesley Cowling made a home run for Saratoga in the first inning.

Columbus High School freshman class motored to Red Lake Tuesday for a picnic. The class was accompanied by Jaunita Calhoun, Ruth Thomas and Hugh Bristow who were guests. Lunch was served at 1 o'clock. After the class and sponsors returned from a fishing and bathing trip Miss Thomas and Miss Calhoun served eats.

The party left the lake at 5 o'clock for home. Everyone enjoyed the outing and reported a good time.

Mrs. E. M. Evans and Clarence Elsen of Garland spent last week end with relatives and friends here and

Here and There

Editorial By Alex. H. Washburn

HERE'S how a negro congregation in New York City, dedicating some stone statues to St. Benedict the Moor, decided whether the angels should be black or white. As Ed McCorkle tells it:

"In decorating the building it was planned that there be included several figures of angels. Part of the congregation took the position that since in heaven all were to be white, these figures should be white.

"Others saw in this course a lack of consideration for St. Benedict, who was a negro. Thus the controversy.

"The compromise was apparent when those visiting the church later viewed four little angels with beatific countenances, three white ones dressed in pink, and one brown one dressed in blue."

The sheriff tells us this will be the last week to pay taxes without extra cost. The 10 per cent penalty has been waived by the state until June 12. But unless the supreme court invalidates the delinquent tax list publication, this will be charged after Saturday night, May 13.

The supreme court should decide for or against the land list by next Monday, May 15. Meanwhile the state press association introduced and passed at the last session of the legislature a bill cutting the land list fees from 30 cents a tract to 25 cents. The issue, therefore, is whether the saving to the taxpayers will be 50 per cent or 100.

If the publication is effective in helping to collect taxes on time, it should be retained. But if it is to be regarded as a political football it should be abolished. The commercial newspapers of the state followed The Star's lead at Helena, Ark., last June, in agreeing to a drastic rate reduction, but at the same time demanding that where government spent money for advertising it should spend it with papers of proven circulation. County officials everywhere have it in their power to save the land list publication by handling it on a business basis —if it is of demonstrated value to the government—and if it isn't, then it ought to be dropped.

A Washington dispatch today tells us that congressional leaders have solemnly warned Mr. Roosevelt "none of us never will stand for war debt revision or cancellation."

It is the opinion of most Americans that congress will stand for anything if the people and the president want it. And if Mr. Roosevelt, after a close survey of the foreign situation, determines that the best interests of American trade will be served by revision or cancellation, then that's what it will be.

I am told that a certain South American congressman always addresses his audience, "I told our people during the war to buy Liberty bonds, and now, by heaven, the foreigners have got to pay."

That's what the insurance companies say when they are closing out some poor devil of a farmer. Today we are attempting to practice co-operation.

If we can write off the balance of the war debts, and turn that much money toward the purchase of wheat and cotton, then that's what we probably will do.

That's what Uncle Sam wants, doesn't he? Well, the Ed says most of the federal taxes anyway—and if they figure it is good business, and want to pay for it, it certainly will be money in pocket to the growers of cotton and wheat, who pay less taxes, and the profit more from the rise of raw material prices.

85c a Bale Loss on Cotton Monday; Reaction Over-due

July Contracts Fall Off 17 Points, Closing at Price 8.42-43

TONE TURNS WEAK

Stock Marke Loses Ground Slightly as Dollar Picks Up Abroad

The expected reaction in the cotton market occurred Monday when July contracts sold off 17 points, closing at 8.42-43 a drop of 85 cents a bale.

The opening was weak, and although the market rallied just before noon, 8.50, against the previous close of 8.59-62, it fell off again in afternoon trading to close for a net loss.

Traders were of the opinion that a substantial amount of realizing of profit-taking was over-due, and believed Monday produced the expected break.

Stocks, Grain Slip

NEW YORK—(AP)—Stocks and grain, holding firm most of the day, turned irregularly lower in late trading Monday when the American dollar displayed rallying tendencies in foreign exchange markets and French bonds slumped.

The losses were not severe, although several of the leaders were down a point or more at the finish.

Transfers approximated 3,100,000 shares.

Cotton closed at declines of 85 to 95 cents a bale at New Orleans.

Weekly Cotton Review

MEMPHIS—(U. S. Dept. Agriculture)—Cotton prices during the period April 29-May 5 continued to advance and on May 5th were about 1c per pound higher than for April 28 and about 2½ higher than for the corresponding period a year ago.

Demand for spot cotton both in domestic and foreign markets was stated at moderate with buyers inclined to reduce their buying basis and sellers rather were milling to sell at prevailing prices except for first cost.

Buyers continue to be more interested in immediate shipments with forward shipments more or less neglected. The medium grades and lengths of staples appeared to be mostly inquired for. Inquiries for new crop shipments were stated as rather insignificant.

According to the Weather Bureau for the week ending May 2nd recently planting of cotton has shown more activity than formerly though generally speaking weather and soil conditions continue far from favorable for rapid progress and poor to only fair advance in seeding is the general rule. This work is unusually late in most sections.

Of the apparent supply of American cotton remaining in the U. S. on April 1st which amounted to about 12,800,000 bales, there were located at public storage and at compresses about 6,000,000 bales and 1,300,000 at mills, the remaining 2,700,000 bales representing stocks elsewhere including stocks on farms, interior towns, in transit, etc. Average price middling 7/8 inch at the designated points on the quotations of the markets may 5th 8.26c compared with April 28 and 5.38c for same day a year ago. Reported sales of spot cotton by the ten markets for the week were quite large, amounting to 113,231 bales compared with 82,841 previous week and 49,000 for corresponding week of last season.

Exports to May 1 this season amounted to about 6,500,000 bales or about 300,600 less than last season for the same period.

Rail Bill Audited

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Outlining the manner in which the administration expects President Roosevelt's railroad plan to work, Secretary Roper of the Department of Commerce told the house commerce committee Monday that "upon the result of this measure depends the future of railway transportation."

The purpose of the bill, he said, is to assist the railroads to help themselves, and it is "essentially experimental."

Delinquent Publication Costs Depend on Test Case in Court

THE LIST IS COMPILED

Sheriff Will Turn Over List to Clerk Next Monday

With the annual delinquent tax list now in preparation at the sheriff's office at Washington, Hempstead county taxpayers have only this week in which to pay taxes without penalty or costs, it was announced Monday by John L. Wilson, sheriff and collector.

Although there is some uncertainty as to whether the tax list publication must be made by law this year, the supreme court will make its decision probably next Monday, May 15, and meanwhile county officials are compiling the list as usual.

The list will be sent to the county clerk Monday the 15th, on which date the publication costs will be assessed.

The 10 per cent penalty for late-payment, due May 8, has been waived by the state until June 12.

Sheriff Wilson said that to date approximately 2,500 taxpayers have paid, which is about 1,000 short of last year's figure.

Tax List Case Submitted

LITTLE ROCK.—(AP)—The Union county case testing the validity of a provision of the 1933 general salary act which eliminated publication of the delinquent land list was advanced another week and taken under advisement by the Arkansas Supreme Court Monday, for decision probably next Monday, May 15.

The salary reduction features of the act were ruled invalid by Attorney General Hal Norwood, in an opinion reciting that the act was virtually 75 local acts applying separate procedure to each of the counties, and therefore invalid under a constitutional amendment forbidding the legislature to pass local laws.

But the attorney general held the single section applying to the land list publication to be valid.

Marked Upturn in April's Business

Steel and Autos Blaze Way —Price Index Jumps From 60.1 to 60.4

WASHINGTON. — Confidence has been temporarily improved in the country, both by "strong government measures to meet the emergency and by prospects for the world economic conference," the American Federation of Labor said Sunday in its monthly survey of business for April.

Steel production, which fell to 15 per cent of capacity during the crisis, it said, rose to 29 per cent by April 22 and automobile production, which had dropped to the low mark of 11,000 cars weekly, jumped beyond expectations to 49,000 late in April.

"The price decline has been checked by ending the strain of keeping our currency on the gold par," the federation added. "Prospects of inflation have caused a strong wing not to raise the general price level slightly; the wholesale price index has risen from 59.1 at the first week in April to 60.4 in the week of April 22."

"These favorable factors," the federation said, "have put several hundred thousand men back to work" but it warned that after the speculative wave was loved it was probable that business would continue downward unless government measures turn the tide.

"Deflation forces were still at work," it said, "and the situation is too uncertain to start credit flowing to business from its hiding."

The federation characterized the president's program as a vigorous one of quick action, relieve debtors and put men back to work.

Police Recover Ransom Money in Kenneth's Home

PROVINCETOWN, Mass.—(AP)—Kenneth Buck and his brother Cyril, arrested in the kidnaping of Margaret McMath, 10, pleaded not guilty Monday, and each was held in $100,000 bond for a hearing May 22.

Kenneth is charged with kidnaping and extortion, and Cyril with extortion, in connection with the payment of $60,000 ransom.

Kenneth, talking to reporters before his arraignment, said another man was involved, but refused to talk further without a lawyer.

$80,000 Is Recovered

HARWICHPORT, Mass.—(AP)—Kenneth Buck, 28, confessed kidnaper of Margaret (Peggy) McMath, 10, and re-enacted the crime for which he and his brother, Cyril G., were arrested Saturday.

As he showed detectives how he planned and carried out the abduction of the child, other officers guarding his client, $60,000 in ransom money recovered from Buck's home and protesting officials prepared to transfer him into court Monday.

Kenneth will face a charge of kidnaping and his brother, Cyril, one of extortion, in the negotiations that led up to the payment of the money for the return of Peggy McMath. Both were held kidnaped three days before the child was brought to Provincetown.

The two were arrested after a series of sensational moves brought the case to a swift climax. An all-night questioning of Cyril Buck, who had admitted participation in the kidnaper and Neil C. McMath, father of the child, had brought a confession and pointed to Kenneth as the actual abductor.

Police went to his home here and, shortly after Kenneth and Cyril were placed under arrest, found the money recovered.

Later they announced Kenneth had made a full confession of how he blacked his face to hide his identity and of using a grotesque hood over his head as a mask when he met the father and received the money.

Congress Opposes Debt Cancellation

Roosevelt Warned That They Still Haven't Seen the Light

WASHINGTON.—(AP)—Pres. Roosevelt and spokesmen of the European debtors were said Saturday to be united on the issues of the latest debt relief, and what steps the chief executive will recommend to congress remain highly problematical.

Some Democratic congressional leaders privately were counseling militant opposition to any move toward debt cancellation, reductions or even a moratorium during the London economic conference, which will meet June 12.

Payments of $19,000,000 by five nations are due June 12.

The president is counting on at least a partial payment on June 15 of the sums due—if not the whole amount. The sum was expected Friday that will record the incident. The address was broadcast not only to the entire United States but to Europe and South America.

The stock market which sagged Saturday on rumors that the president would repudiate inflation was expected to bound upward Monday with the commodity markets in consequence of Mr. Roosevelt's pronouncement that there is to be inflation—but not too much.

Paragon Tells Story

The news of the president's definite intentions with respect to inflation for which the whole world has been waiting with great suspense was tucked into a single paragraph along toward the end of the speech.

"The administration," said Mr. Roosevelt, "has the definite objective of raising commodity prices to such an extent that those who have borrowed money will, on the average, be able to repay that money in the same kind of dollar which they borrowed. We do not seek to let them get such a cheap dollar that they will be able to pay back a great deal less than they borrowed. In other words, we seek to correct a wrong and not

To Cheapen Dollar to Allow Debt Repayment

President Has Set Sensational Record During Emergency Last 2 Months

By JOHN M. GLEISSNER
NEA Service Writer

WASHINGTON—On May 4 President Roosevelt completed the first two months of his administration.

His program rapidly has taken shape during that time, and a complete overhauling of the economic and social life of the country has been started.

A survey of the first two months shows numerous definite accomplishments, with a start toward inflation and farm relief, bringing an upturn in prices and an apparent improvement in business.

New currency has been provided and banks put under control, bear legalized and repeal submitted to the states, the operating banks authorized and an international program begun.

Other measures of far-reaching importance soon will be effective.

The president has moved with almost bewildering speed attempting to revive business and industry, get 15,000,000 idle back to work, and raise farm prices. He has tackled the depression from every angle, with the support of a willing congress and an enthusiastic public hungry for action.

It is predicted his entire program will have the approval of Congress before summer. No president in history has been given such a broad dictatorial and democratic power, even in matters basically affecting the life of every person.

Here, in brief, are the president's accomplishments and his program:

Inflation

Inflation legislation empowers but does not direct the president to reduce the gold content of the dollar up to half, and to authorize the free coinage of silver and fix its ratio to gold.

It authorizes agreement with the Federal Reserve banks for purchase of $3,000,000,000 of federal securities against which currency may be issued, and if necessary the issuance of $3,000,000,000 in treasury notes, backed by a 4 per cent annual redemption fund.

Also $200,000,000 in silver could be accepted in payment of war debts, to serve as a basis for more currency.

Will Force Currency Down to Bring Up Prices to 1926-1929 Level

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt purposes to cheapen the dollar through a controlled inflation of the currency in order to restore the pre-depression level of commodity prices and enable debtors to pay their debts in dollars of pre-depression value.

The president proclaimed this policy to the country to the world Sunday night in a radio broadcast in which he presented his objectives for the raising of prices and a planned economy for agriculture, industry and transportation to be carried out in partnership with the government. By such planned economy he proposes to eradicate cut throat competition and starvation wages and prevent such over-production as helped to bring about the present depression.

The 2,000-word speech upon which he and his advisers had worked all day, Mr. Roosevelt read before microphones set up in his study while in a soundproff glass booth movie cameras ground out film for the newsreels that will record the incident. The address was broadcast not only to the entire United States but to Europe and South America.

Science Discards 'Certainties'

By BRUCE CATTON
NEA Executive Writer

A BRIGHT young man of today who set out to get a good grounding in the sciences could easily be forgiven for concluding that he was being asked to discard all of his certainties and substitute a somewhat jumbled mess of probabilities, near-probabilities and wild guesses.

A decade or two ago science was dogmatic and positive. It set up certain "natural laws" and they were like the laws of the Medes and the Persians. Certain things were thus and so and no one need argue about it.

To appreciate how the picture has changed you need only read a speech made in New York the other evening by Irving Langmuir, the 1932 Nobel Prize winner in chemistry.

During the last 20 years, he said, science has come to believe that "no natural law has absolute validity" and that the absolute sense can anything ever be predicted accurately. The law of cause and effect is no longer with us. Most scientists, he declared, have utterly hitched....

"Some things may be more probable than others," he added, "but you can't say that anything is absolutely true."

It would be hard to overestimate the significance of this attitude, for it carries with one of the profoundest revolutions that the human mind has ever been compelled to go through. We are not through with that revolution yet; indeed, we have hardly passed its first phase—and before it is over many of our concepts of man and nature and life and the universe are likely to be altered almost beyond recognition.

Nor is there anything in all of this to depress the speculative soul who likes to feel that there are values which material standards cannot assess and realities which human eyes cannot see. Indeed, the exact opposite is true. It is the ultra-materialist who is confounded by this change. How are you going to be dogmatic about the absolute dominion of material things when you cannot have one single certainty about them?

In its long climb up from darkness mankind has passed a great rise, and stands now facing limitless horizons. It has lost its old landmarks—but it has a marvelous chance for adventurous exploration.

Freeing The Filipinos

GEN. EMILIO AGUINALDO, famous Filipino insurrectionist leader of a generation ago, is en route to Washington to urge enactment of a new Philippine independence bill. His trip emphasizes the fact that the bill passed by the last Congress seems to be satisfactory to nobody and needs a good deal of revision.

The independence that the law grants is neither flesh, fowl nor good red herring. It sets the Filipinos free but keeps them in leading strings that makes their freedom a sham. It threatens to cripple their commerce, and it keeps the United States etangled in Far Eastern politics. There is little in it to commend it either to Filipino or American.

If we are going to set the islanders free—and, incidentally, we promised to do so more than 30 years ago—we might as well make a clean job of it.

Exploiting Children

PERHAPS the most appalling news of recent weeks came from Pennsylvania, where dispatches say several hundred boy and girl workers have walked out of shirt and pajama factories in an effort to end sweatshop conditions. A large percentage of these workers, it is stated, are under 16; some of them have been earning as little as 30 cents a week.

One girl of 15, the only member of a family of seven to have a job, has been working for 85 cents a week. Last winter, according to investigators for the Pennsylvania Department of Labor, child workers who complained that the shops were cold were told to "work faster and get warm."

In Russia, when the head of a factory is found guilty of anti-social practices, he is sometimes led out and shot. One in a while one could almost wish that we had such a law in this country.

MORENE O'DARE who lives with her mother, brothers and sister in a small town is in love with DAN CARRIGAN, heir to a local furniture. CHARLES DOW-TACH, newcomer to the city, arrives in town and falls in love with MORENE at first sight. KAY, her sister, is disinterested at home, and MARIE, Morene's younger sister, ...SANDRA LAWRENCE who proves ...to be a friend of Morene's. ...tries to win Dan away from her. BETTY, a maid in the Lawrence ...

His toothy grin held a trace of malice. Hetty gave him a furious look.

"Want to stick around and watch you, smarty!" she snapped. "You're getting too big for your boots. And there's somebody around here who'll make a fool of you if you don't watch out—"

"You're telling me." He lighted a forbidden cigaret, coolly ...

Hetty, watching the scene from behind the Venetian screen which guarded the dining room door, whispered ambitiously to the cook, crowded in beside her. "Ain't she in a stew, though? Missed her guess that time. He didn't come."

"Who didn't?" Cook was obtuse.

Hetty snorted. "Young Mister Cardigan, of course. Didn't you notice?"

The cook woman shook her head. "I ain't bothered about such nonsense and you've no business to be, you hotter-eyed hack upstairs to the coats and things and don't be trying none of it on, either."

Hetty, making a face at the other's retreating figure, found her arm pinioned in a strong grasp and whirled to see the smiling face of Charles, the chauffeur, not two inches from her own.

"Let me go, you—you—" The girl, trig in her new gray uniform, pretended to struggle but presently was in the man's arms. "What you hangin' around here for anyway?" she demanded with pretended truculence. It was easy to see how she felt about Charles. His beady black eyes were alight with conquest. Her breath was short and excited.

"I'm supposed to drive that tribe, the whole kit and caboodle of 'em, back to the last train." James told her, releasing his hold and lounging against the door jamb. Hetty's gaze took in his lithe leanness, affectively set off by the hunter's green garb he wore.

"Oh, yeah!" She savored this. "Hope they push off soon. I'm pretty tired myself. Got to get the old man early breakfast, too. You'd think a person was made of wood, the way you get treated."

"IT'S not a good place to work," the chauffeur said lazily. "Good pay and the food is all right. What's your hurry?"

"I could do twice as well in the city and you know it," she said sullenly.

"Then why don't you try it?"

throat, tossed it lightly into a beautifully tooled and arabesqued box of leather.

Her steps led lightly into the creamy tiled bathroom beyond, where lucent red shower curtains and dolphins disporting themselves on a silver background enlivened the scene. The night, by now, was stifling. Scarcely a breath stirred. Sandra flung the casements wide. She shrugged off the green frock and gulfed in "an actual panic" with "complete stoppage of the wheels of industry."

No Republicans to Enter Justice Race

Move to Make July 16th Election "Free-for-All" Gains Favor

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—Republicans will have no candidate for chief justice of the supreme court in the special election July 16 unless one files by petition.

A. J. Russell, chairman of the Republican state central committee, polled the committee on whether the party should nominate a candidate and the members voted overwhelmingly against it.

Meanwhile, the move among Democrats to throw the July 16th election open to any Democratic candidates to file by petition to eliminate the necessity of a special convention or primary election, is reported to be gaining strength among members of the Democratic state central committee.

The committee meets here next Saturday (May 13) to determine a course of procedure to follow in connection with the special election.

Prosecuting Attorney Carl E. Bailey of Little Rock, a member of the committee, has asked other members to support the move to avoid a convention or primary by letting candidates file by petition.

If no Republican candidate filed, the special election thus would amount to a Democratic primary, the winner of which would serve out the unexpired term of the late Chief Justice Jesse C. Hart.

Governor Futrell plans to call elections on the same date to fill vacancies in any other public offices.

The elections of a chief justice and other officers to fill vacancies will be held in connection with the referendum of whether Arkansas shall ratify or reject the proposed Twenty-First amendment to the United States constitution which would repeal the Eighteenth (prohibition) amendment.

Eddie Cantor at Saenger Two Days

"Kid From Spain" To Play Here Through Tuesday Night

Eddie Cantor, in "The Kid from Spain," begins his engagement at the Saenger Theater Sunday. It is Samuel Goldwyn's annual presentation of Cantor song-and-dance, following last year's "Palmy Days" and "Whoopee" in the years before.

In "The Kid from Spain," Eddie marches out neither bravely nor willingly, to show his skill and grace as a matador. Escape from the police who are pursuing him, protection from the Mexican thugs who want to kill him, rescue from the adoring eyes of the elongated blonde sex menace, and winning his roommate's difficult love are among the reasons that impel Eddie into the arena on the bull's back, colorful scene to the story. It is a role in which the weak-kneed, facile, helpless, bespectacled Eddie is funny in a Chaplinesque magnificence.

Songs that you will have trouble escaping (they are worth walking a mile to hear), the smiling faces and the graceful beauty of a hundred girls, spirited dances and color and glamour and entertainment are all ingredients of this big production. Samuel Goldwyn has done a nice, smooth job of using his girls and his music to top off a story in which comedy seems almost too fun for comfort.

Cantor tops himself as the bouncing, bubbling rumrunt. He has never been better; he has never been as good. Wrap, stole out into the night. The girls warm as a second for his comedy. An easy grace marks the playing of Robert Young and ROY Hall as the romantic leads, and John Milian and Carroll Nash are menacing Mexican property menacing as the Mexican bad men.

Anti-Civil Service Move in Jonesboro

JONESBORO, Ark.—(AP)—Jonesboro has joined a growing list of cities where reform politicians have benefited to stay the operation of the new fire and police civil service act until the people have voted on it.

Under the 1933 act, petitions to refer it may be filed up to May 14—60 days after it was signed by the governor. Unless petitions are filed by that date, it is mandatory upon all cities of the first class to put it into effect for the police department and all cities having organized fire departments to put those under civil service.

Will Force Currency

to create another wrong in the opposite direction. That is why powers are being given to the administration to provide if necessary for an enlargement of credit, in order to correct the existing wrong. These powers will be used when, as, and if it may be necessary to accomplish the purpose."

By such controlled inflation the government proposes to raise commodity prices to the average of the period from 1926 to 1929 which is considered the level at which the greater part of the present volume of debts was contracted, and would mean in the case of many commodities an increase of 100 per cent or more.

The president will endeavor to attain this objective through one or more of the devices which he is to be empowered to employ by the legislation rider to the farm relief bill now approaching final approval by Congress. The bill is almost certain to come law before the end of this week.

Credit inflation will be first resorted to through the purchase of government securities by the Federal Reserve banks. The open market committee will be provided by the issuance by the Treasury of two or three billion dollars worth of new bills to finance the huge public works construction program now being carried on by the administration.

If such credit inflation fails to do the business, the president will invoke the alternative power of issuing greenbacks in sufficient amount to produce the desired inflation of the currency. Another alternative provided by the inflation bill is reduction of the gold content of the dollar not more than 50 per cent but the president is known to regard this as a device that probably would not be resorted to except through agreement with other powers on a stabilization of currencies.

Discusses Gold Standard

In only one other part of his speech did the president mention inflation and that was in connection with the suspension of gold payments, when he harps on the value of gold and the nullification of the gold clause in government and private obligations.

"Government credit and government currency are really one and the same thing," Mr. Roosevelt, there being behind government bonds only the determination of the government to pay and behind currency only a promise to pay and a reserve of gold and silver.

For the benefit of those foreigners who have been charging the United States with repudiation of the gold clause, the president pointed out that the gold clauses in bonds and notes gave to a fiction, there being in the whole world only a fraction of the gold that would be required to redeem the $30,000,000,000 of gold debts and currency and the $60,000,000,000 or $70,000,000,000 of private securities.

If gold were to be paid in satisfaction of the gold clause the foreigners would get all the gold available. The government, therefore, said Mr. Roosevelt, decided to treat all creditors alike by letting none of them receive payments in gold. Another reason for shutting down on gold payments and clamping an embargo on gold, the president explained, is that gold and to some extent silver afford basis for currency.

But the big reason for the gold embargo, Mr. Roosevelt declared, was not only a drain on our gold by other countries that set in three weeks ago, but a flight of American capital from the United States indicating a loss of confidence on the part of American business men in the future financial policies of the Roosevelt administration. But for the gold embargo, the president said, we might have lost most of our gold and have been en-

Little Rock Takes Literary Contest

In the state literary and track meet held Saturday at Clarksville, Little Rock High School was declared the winner in literary contests and while drawing them from production.

Licensing of food processors and handlers and imposition of a processing tax is authorized, proceeds to go to farmers as rentals and bounties. The bill aims to raise farm prices to the 1909-14 level.

Farm mortgages are to be refinanced through land banks with a $2,000,000,000 bond issue with 4 per cent interest guaranteed by the federal government.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation would lend $100,000,000 to joint stock land banks for suspending foreclosures and $100,000,000 to drainage, irrigation and levee districts. The treasury would subscribe $50,000,000 to land banks.

Public Works

A committee of cabinet members has recommended ways for getting $4,000,000,000, or more, into hands of communities for immediate public works, self-liquidating where possible.

The Muscle Shoals-Tennessee river project, for power production and flood control, soon to pass, would involve expenditure of $200,000,000. The St. Lawrence waterway and power development, involving ratification of a treaty with Canada, expected at this session, is urged by the president.

An army of 300,000 unemployed are being recruited to work in national forests. Thousands already are at work.

Budget

The budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 was brought within limits through economies estimated at $850,000,000, or $2 per cent. Veterans' benefits were slashed $450,000,000, the army and navy were trimmed, federal pay was slashed 15 per cent, bureaus were consolidated.

Money and Banks

After closing all banks, the president permitted opening of sound institutions only, moved to liquify frozen bank assets under federal supervision and to ease credit. New money was provided.

Exportation of gold and gold redemption were suspended.

A banking bill before committee would check use of bank funds in speculation, preventing concentration of money, improve banking practices, improve more federal control, Guaranty of bank deposits up to $10,000 is proposed.

Conway Defeats Hope Storks 8-7

Home Runs Keep It Interesting Up to the Very Last

Home-run hitting featured a Hope-Conway baseball game played here Sunday afternoon in which the visitors finally won, 8 to 7.

Wallace Cook, Hope shortstop, pulled the game out of the fire in the eighth inning with a terrific smash over the centerfield fence with one man on base.

The circuit drive put Hope into the lead by one run. The Conway team came back strong in the first of the ninth. The first man up walked on four pitched balls. The second batter connected and sent the ball soaring over the left field wall to win the game.

Hope was unable to tally in the last of the ninth.

The Storks jumped into the lead at the start of the game, scoring two runs in the first inning. Conway over took the Storks in the third scoring four runs.

The visitors led until the eighth when Cook walloped a homer. His drive was the longest seen at Fair Park this year.

Cargile played a good game for Hope. In the seventh he went far back into right center to bring down a drive that looked like a sure hit. King, Conway third baseman, was on base at the time. King had started from first to second when the ball was hit. Cargile shot the ball to first base after makin gthe catch for a double play. King was out by yards.

In the next inning Cargile made a leap catch of Kellog's smash that took a good few bases. He was loudly applauded.

The fans passed a collection hat for Cook and Cargile.

Next Sunday afternoon the Storks play Greenbrier here. Greenbrier is near Conway and is the home of Dib Williams, shortstop for the Philadelphia Athletics.

Visiting Ambulance Has Annoying Siren

The best explanation of a screaming siren on an ambulance was sounded through the city Saturday night, but for a 30-hour week to spread efficiency, and to provide a minimum wage fixed by boards representing employers, workers and the public. A measure of control over production would be exercised.

Railroads

The president will ask for a federal co-ordinator of transportation, empowered to eliminate duplicating railroad terminal facilities and effect economies. Anti-trust laws and Interstate Commerce Act would be suspended.

Relief

A direct grant of $500,000,000 to the states by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for relief of destitute unemployed is proposed. Continuing distribution of government-purchased wheat and cotton by the Red Cross is asked.

Small home-owners would be helped by a $2,000,000,000 mortgage refinancing bill aimed to check foreclosures and lower interest rates.

World Affairs

Conversations in Washington with spokesmen for Great Britain, France and Canada smoothed the way for international action by an economic conference among 54 nations to be held next month. World peace and disarmament, tariffs, exchange and return to a gold standard, and war debts were questions on which more measure of agreement was reached. A trade agreement with Canada is in progress.

The president has asked authority to impose embargoes on arms shipments to any nation or nations.

Tariffs, Taxation

Tax measures would continue the one cent federal tax on gasoline, and shift the tax on electricity from consumer to producer. Local postage would be cut from three to two cents and authority given to alter other rates.

Legislation would give the president power to negotiate for lowering tariff barriers. This hinges on coming international discussions.

Science Discards 'Certainties'

By BRUCE CATTON
NEA Executive Writer

A BRIGHT young man of today who set out to get a good grounding in the sciences could easily be forgiven for concluding that he was being asked to discard all of his certainties and substitute a somewhat jumbled mess of probabilities, near-probabilities and wild guesses.

A decade or two ago science was dogmatic and positive. It set up certain "natural laws" and they were like the laws of the Medes and the Persians. Certain things were thus and so and no one need argue about it.

To appreciate how the picture has changed you need only read a speech made in New York the other evening by Irving Langmuir, the 1932 Nobel Prize winner in chemistry.

During the last 20 years, he said, science has come to believe that "no natural law has absolute validity" and that the absolute sense can anything ever be predicted accurately. The law of cause and effect is no longer with us. Most scientists, he declared, have utterly hitched....

"Some things may be more probable than others," he added, "but you can't say that anything is absolutely true."

It would be hard to overestimate the significance of this attitude, for it carries with one of the profoundest revolutions that the human mind has ever been compelled to go through. We are not through with that revolution yet; indeed, we have hardly passed its first phase—and before it is over many of our concepts of man and nature and life and the universe are likely to be altered almost beyond recognition.

Nor is there anything in all of this to depress the speculative soul who likes to feel that there are values which material standards cannot assess and realities which human eyes cannot see. Indeed, the exact opposite is true. It is the ultra-materialist who is confounded by this change. How are you going to be dogmatic about the absolute dominion of material things when you cannot have one single certainty about them?

In its long climb up from darkness mankind has passed a great rise, and stands now facing limitless horizons. It has lost its old landmarks—but it has a marvelous chance for adventurous exploration.

Freeing The Filipinos

GEN. EMILIO AGUINALDO, famous Filipino insurrectionist leader of a generation ago, is en route to Washington to urge enactment of a new Philippine independence bill. His trip emphasizes the fact that the bill passed by the last Congress seems to be satisfactory to nobody and needs a good deal of revision.

The independence that the law grants is neither flesh, fowl nor good red herring. It sets the Filipinos free but keeps them in leading strings that makes their freedom a sham. It threatens to cripple their commerce, and it keeps the United States etangled in Far Eastern politics. There is little in it to commend it either to Filipino or American.

If we are going to set the islanders free—and, incidentally, we promised to do so more than 30 years ago—we might as well make a clean job of it.

Exploiting Children

PERHAPS the most appalling news of recent weeks came from Pennsylvania, where dispatches say several hundred boy and girl workers have walked out of shirt and pajama factories in an effort to end sweatshop conditions. A large percentage of these workers, it is stated, are under 16; some of them have been earning as little as 30 cents a week.

One girl of 15, the only member of a family of seven to have a job, has been working for 85 cents a week. Last winter, according to investigators for the Pennsylvania Department of Labor, child workers who complained that the shops were cold were told to "work faster and get warm."

In Russia, when the head of a factory is found guilty of anti-social practices, he is sometimes led out and shot. One in a while one could almost wish that we had such a law in this country.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

MORENE O'DARE who lives with her mother, brothers and sister in a small town is in love with DAN CARRIGAN, heir to a local furniture. CHARLES DOW-TACH, newcomer to the city, arrives in town and falls in love with MORENE at first sight. KAY, her sister, is disinterested at home, and MARIE, Morene's younger sister, ...SANDRA LAWRENCE who proves ...to be a friend of Morene's. ...tries to win Dan away from her. BETTY, a maid in the Lawrence ...

His toothy grin held a trace of malice. Hetty gave him a furious look.

"Want to stick around and watch you, smarty!" she snapped. "You're getting too big for your boots. And there's somebody around here who'll make a fool of you if you don't watch out—"

"You're telling me." He lighted a forbidden cigaret, coolly ...

Hetty, watching the scene from behind the Venetian screen which guarded the dining room door, whispered ambitiously to the cook, crowded in beside her. "Ain't she in a stew, though? Missed her guess that time. He didn't come."

"Who didn't?" Cook was obtuse.

Hetty snorted. "Young Mister Cardigan, of course. Didn't you notice?"

The cook woman shook her head. "I ain't bothered about such nonsense and you've no business to be, you hotter-eyed hack upstairs to the coats and things and don't be trying none of it on, either."

Hetty, making a face at the other's retreating figure, found her arm pinioned in a strong grasp and whirled to see the smiling face of Charles, the chauffeur, not two inches from her own.

"Let me go, you—you—" The girl, trig in her new gray uniform, pretended to struggle but presently was in the man's arms. "What you hangin' around here for anyway?" she demanded with pretended truculence. It was easy to see how she felt about Charles. His beady black eyes were alight with conquest. Her breath was short and excited.

"I'm supposed to drive that tribe, the whole kit and caboodle of 'em, back to the last train." James told her, releasing his hold and lounging against the door jamb. Hetty's gaze took in his lithe leanness, affectively set off by the hunter's green garb he wore.

"Oh, yeah!" She savored this. "Hope they push off soon. I'm pretty tired myself. Got to get the old man early breakfast, too. You'd think a person was made of wood, the way you get treated."

"IT'S not a good place to work," the chauffeur said lazily. "Good pay and the food is all right. What's your hurry?"

"I could do twice as well in the city and you know it," she said sullenly.

"Then why don't you try it?"

throat, tossed it lightly into a beautifully tooled and arabesqued box of leather.

Her steps led lightly into the creamy tiled bathroom beyond, where lucent red shower curtains and dolphins disporting themselves on a silver background enlivened the scene. The night, by now, was stifling. Scarcely a breath stirred. Sandra flung the casements wide. She shrugged off the green frock and gulfed in "an actual panic" with "complete stoppage of the wheels of industry."

No Republicans to Enter Justice Race

Move to Make July 16th Election "Free-for-All" Gains Favor

LITTLE ROCK—(AP)—Republicans will have no candidate for chief justice of the supreme court in the special election July 16 unless one files by petition.

A. J. Russell, chairman of the Republican state central committee, polled the committee on whether the party should nominate a candidate and the members voted overwhelmingly against it.

Meanwhile, the move among Democrats to throw the July 16th election open to any Democratic candidates to file by petition to eliminate the necessity of a special convention or primary election, is reported to be gaining strength among members of the Democratic state central committee.

The committee meets here next Saturday (May 13) to determine a course of procedure to follow in connection with the special election.

Prosecuting Attorney Carl E. Bailey of Little Rock, a member of the committee, has asked other members to support the move to avoid a convention or primary by letting candidates file by petition.

If no Republican candidate filed, the special election thus would amount to a Democratic primary, the winner of which would serve out the unexpired term of the late Chief Justice Jesse C. Hart.

Governor Futrell plans to call elections on the same date to fill vacancies in any other public offices.

The elections of a chief justice and other officers to fill vacancies will be held in connection with the referendum of whether Arkansas shall ratify or reject the proposed Twenty-First amendment to the United States constitution which would repeal the Eighteenth (prohibition) amendment.

Eddie Cantor at Saenger Two Days

"Kid From Spain" To Play Here Through Tuesday Night

Eddie Cantor, in "The Kid from Spain," begins his engagement at the Saenger Theater Sunday. It is Samuel Goldwyn's annual presentation of Cantor song-and-dance, following last year's "Palmy Days" and "Whoopee" in the years before.

In "The Kid from Spain," Eddie marches out neither bravely nor willingly, to show his skill and grace as a matador. Escape from the police who are pursuing him, protection from the Mexican thugs who want to kill him, rescue from the adoring eyes of the elongated blonde sex menace, and winning his roommate's difficult love are among the reasons that impel Eddie into the arena on the bull's back, colorful scene to the story. It is a role in which the weak-kneed, facile, helpless, bespectacled Eddie is funny in a Chaplinesque magnificence.

Songs that you will have trouble escaping (they are worth walking a mile to hear), the smiling faces and the graceful beauty of a hundred girls, spirited dances and color and glamour and entertainment are all ingredients of this big production. Samuel Goldwyn has done a nice, smooth job of using his girls and his music to top off a story in which comedy seems almost too fun for comfort.

Cantor tops himself as the bouncing, bubbling rumrunt. He has never been better; he has never been as good. Wrap, stole out into the night. The girls warm as a second for his comedy. An easy grace marks the playing of Robert Young and ROY Hall as the romantic leads, and John Milian and Carroll Nash are menacing Mexican property menacing as the Mexican bad men.

Anti-Civil Service Move in Jonesboro

JONESBORO, Ark.—(AP)—Jonesboro has joined a growing list of cities where reform politicians have benefited to stay the operation of the new fire and police civil service act until the people have voted on it.

Under the 1933 act, petitions to refer it may be filed up to May 14—60 days after it was signed by the governor. Unless petitions are filed by that date, it is mandatory upon all cities of the first class to put it into effect for the police department and all cities having organized fire departments to put those under civil service.

Will Force Currency

to create another wrong in the opposite direction. That is why powers are being given to the administration to provide if necessary for an enlargement of credit, in order to correct the existing wrong. These powers will be used when, as, and if it may be necessary to accomplish the purpose."

By such controlled inflation the government proposes to raise commodity prices to the average of the period from 1926 to 1929 which is considered the level at which the greater part of the present volume of debts was contracted, and would mean in the case of many commodities an increase of 100 per cent or more.

The president will endeavor to attain this objective through one or more of the devices which he is to be empowered to employ by the legislation rider to the farm relief bill now approaching final approval by Congress. The bill is almost certain to come law before the end of this week.

Credit inflation will be first resorted to through the purchase of government securities by the Federal Reserve banks. The open market committee will be provided by the issuance by the Treasury of two or three billion dollars worth of new bills to finance the huge public works construction program now being carried on by the administration.

If such credit inflation fails to do the business, the president will invoke the alternative power of issuing greenbacks in sufficient amount to produce the desired inflation of the currency. Another alternative provided by the inflation bill is reduction of the gold content of the dollar not more than 50 per cent but the president is known to regard this as a device that probably would not be resorted to except through agreement with other powers on a stabilization of currencies.

Discusses Gold Standard

In only one other part of his speech did the president mention inflation and that was in connection with the suspension of gold payments, when he harps on the value of gold and the nullification of the gold clause in government and private obligations.

"Government credit and government currency are really one and the same thing," Mr. Roosevelt, there being behind government bonds only the determination of the government to pay and behind currency only a promise to pay and a reserve of gold and silver.

For the benefit of those foreigners who have been charging the United States with repudiation of the gold clause, the president pointed out that the gold clauses in bonds and notes gave to a fiction, there being in the whole world only a fraction of the gold that would be required to redeem the $30,000,000,000 of gold debts and currency and the $60,000,000,000 or $70,000,000,000 of private securities.

If gold were to be paid in satisfaction of the gold clause the foreigners would get all the gold available. The government, therefore, said Mr. Roosevelt, decided to treat all creditors alike by letting none of them receive payments in gold. Another reason for shutting down on gold payments and clamping an embargo on gold, the president explained, is that gold and to some extent silver afford basis for currency.

But the big reason for the gold embargo, Mr. Roosevelt declared, was not only a drain on our gold by other countries that set in three weeks ago, but a flight of American capital from the United States indicating a loss of confidence on the part of American business men in the future financial policies of the Roosevelt administration. But for the gold embargo, the president said, we might have lost most of our gold and have been en-

In the state literary and track meet held Saturday at Clarksville, Little Rock High School was declared the winner in literary contests and while drawing them from production.

Licensing of food processors and handlers and imposition of a processing tax is authorized, proceeds to go to farmers as rentals and bounties. The bill aims to raise farm prices to the 1909-14 level.

Farm mortgages are to be refinanced through land banks with a $2,000,000,000 bond issue with 4 per cent interest guaranteed by the federal government.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation would lend $100,000,000 to joint stock land banks for suspending foreclosures and $100,000,000 to drainage, irrigation and levee districts. The treasury would subscribe $50,000,000 to land banks.

Public Works

A committee of cabinet members has recommended ways for getting $4,000,000,000, or more, into hands of communities for immediate public works, self-liquidating where possible.

The Muscle Shoals-Tennessee river project, for power production and flood control, soon to pass, would involve expenditure of $200,000,000. The St. Lawrence waterway and power development, involving ratification of a treaty with Canada, expected at this session, is urged by the president.

An army of 300,000 unemployed are being recruited to work in national forests. Thousands already are at work.

Budget

The budget for the fiscal year beginning July 1 was brought within limits through economies estimated at $850,000,000, or $2 per cent. Veterans' benefits were slashed $450,000,000, the army and navy were trimmed, federal pay was slashed 15 per cent, bureaus were consolidated.

Money and Banks

After closing all banks, the president permitted opening of sound institutions only, moved to liquify frozen bank assets under federal supervision and to ease credit. New money was provided.

Exportation of gold and gold redemption were suspended.

A banking bill before committee would check use of bank funds in speculation, preventing concentration of money, improve banking practices, improve more federal control, Guaranty of bank deposits up to $10,000 is proposed.

Conway Defeats Hope Storks 8-7

Home Runs Keep It Interesting Up to the Very Last

Home-run hitting featured a Hope-Conway baseball game played here Sunday afternoon in which the visitors finally won, 8 to 7.

Wallace Cook, Hope shortstop, pulled the game out of the fire in the eighth inning with a terrific smash over the centerfield fence with one man on base.

The circuit drive put Hope into the lead by one run. The Conway team came back strong in the first of the ninth. The first man up walked on four pitched balls. The second batter connected and sent the ball soaring over the left field wall to win the game.

Hope was unable to tally in the last of the ninth.

The Storks jumped into the lead at the start of the game, scoring two runs in the first inning. Conway over took the Storks in the third scoring four runs.

The visitors led until the eighth when Cook walloped a homer. His drive was the longest seen at Fair Park this year.

Cargile played a good game for Hope. In the seventh he went far back into right center to bring down a drive that looked like a sure hit. King, Conway third baseman, was on base at the time. King had started from first to second when the ball was hit. Cargile shot the ball to first base after makin gthe catch for a double play. King was out by yards.

In the next inning Cargile made a leap catch of Kellog's smash that took a good few bases. He was loudly applauded.

The fans passed a collection hat for Cook and Cargile.

Next Sunday afternoon the Storks play Greenbrier here. Greenbrier is near Conway and is the home of Dib Williams, shortstop for the Philadelphia Athletics.

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

"I'm thinking of buying a new car. What's your advice?"

"A six-cylinder Chevrolet. There's one engine you know is right—and many millions of owners have proved it for you."

"There's more room, all right—and the upholstery is certainly better."

"Yes—and no other low-priced car has Fisher No Draft Ventilation, and I wouldn't do without that."

"I see Chevrolet is still topping them all in sales."

"No wonder, Chevrolet for as little as $445 is bound to appeal to every smart buyer."

- Take a minute to watch the new Chevrolets that pass you by. Look at the pleased expressions on the faces of the drivers. These people are enjoying life—going places in style—going with less fuss and bother, and with more solid contentment than most people have ever traveled with before. They are driving the one low-priced car that combines all the best things motoring can offer.

How about it—wouldn't you like to get more fun out of motoring—and be more money ahead? Come to your Chevrolet dealer. In no time at all he'll fix it up so you can save with a new Chevrolet.

Visiting Ambulance Has Annoying Siren

The best explanation of a screaming siren on an ambulance was sounded through the city Saturday night, but for a 30-hour week to spread efficiency, and to provide a minimum wage fixed by boards representing employers, workers and the public. A measure of control over production would be exercised.

Railroads

The president will ask for a federal co-ordinator of transportation, empowered to eliminate duplicating railroad terminal facilities and effect economies. Anti-trust laws and Interstate Commerce Act would be suspended.

Relief

A direct grant of $500,000,000 to the states by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation for relief of destitute unemployed is proposed. Continuing distribution of government-purchased wheat and cotton by the Red Cross is asked.

Small home-owners would be helped by a $2,000,000,000 mortgage refinancing bill aimed to check foreclosures and lower interest rates.

World Affairs

Conversations in Washington with spokesmen for Great Britain, France and Canada smoothed the way for international action by an economic conference among 54 nations to be held next month. World peace and disarmament, tariffs, exchange and return to a gold standard, and war debts were questions on which more measure of agreement was reached. A trade agreement with Canada is in progress.

The president has asked authority to impose embargoes on arms shipments to any nation or nations.

Tariffs, Taxation

Tax measures would continue the one cent federal tax on gasoline, and shift the tax on electricity from consumer to producer. Local postage would be cut from three to two cents and authority given to alter other rates.

Legislation would give the president power to negotiate for lowering tariff barriers. This hinges on coming international discussions.

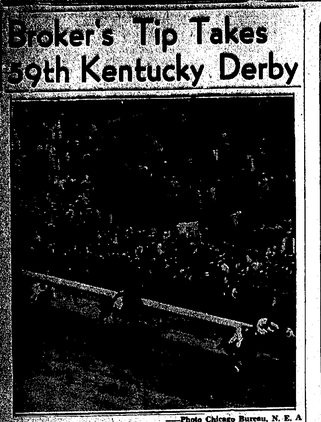
Broker's Tip Takes 59th Kentucky Derby



E. R. Bradley's 'Broker's Tip', against the rail poking his nose over the line to beat 'Head Play' after an exciting duel down the home stretch in the fifty-sixth running of the Kentucky Derby at Churchill Downs. Charley O. is third, Ladysman, the favorite, fourth. This was the fourth Kentucky Derby to be won by a Bradley horse.

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—Broker's Tip carried the colors of Col. E. R. Bradley, perennial Derby winner, to victory in the 59th renewal of the blue grass classic at Churchill Downs Saturday afternoon before 40,000.

It was the most thrilling finish in recent years. Only a nose separated the winner from Mrs. Silas B. Mason's Head Play. Charley O. was in third place, four lengths back, with Ladysman, champion two-year-old and favorite in the betting, fourth, a length and a half behind the Chicago-owned colt.

Backers of the lone Bradley starter received $19.86 for each $2 invested to win, $6.28 for place and $4.54 to show. Head Play rewarded with $5.52 for place and $4.08 to show and Charley O was $3.84 to show.

Time, over a good but not fast track, was 2:06 4-5 for the mile and one-quarter. Net value to the winner was $48,925 with a $5,000 gold trophy.

Foul Claim Registered

Immediately after the finish, or as soon as Jockey Fisher who piloted Head Play could canter back to the judge's stand, dismounted and secured the official pagoda, he lodged a claim of foul against Jockey D. Meade on Broker's Tip. The claim was disallowed as the great crowd was cheering the winner on his progress into the inner enclosure with a garland of flowers over his withers. There Colonel Bradley received the gold cup awarded the winning owner.

Opinions varied on what happened in the last 70 yards just as so often happens when many persons see the same thing with different eyes.

In the extremely close quarters where this leading pair found themselves with Broker's Tip on the inside, Jockey Fisher claimed that Meade took hold of him to impede the progress of his mount. Certainly Fisher seemed to take a slash at Meade with his whip after the two horses had passed the imaginary wire denoting the finish. In the jockey room afterwards, the boys came to blows.

As Broker's Tip's nose nodded in front, Head Play's head was almost sidewise either from an attempt to bear out under the punishment or because he was being crowded by his rival who needed what narrow space he had to keep from going over the infield fence. There were some who blamed Head Play's boy for allowing the Bradley colt to come through on the inside and thought he was misjudging until too late the outside positions where Charley O's formidable challenge at the head of the stretch had faded. Broker's Tip had come from far back in the early stages, emerged from a compact bunch while still a half mile from the wire and then wore down the leader in the manner described.

Continuation of the argument whether Broker's Tip or Head Play is the better colt now will continue until after decision of other three-year-old stakes of the season.

Ladysman, favorite, had no excuses to offer as the race was run for he was in favorable position when the real test began with no noticeable interference to impeds his progress had the opposite speed been there.

Here and There

Editorial By Alex. H. Washburn

A SECOND-HAND bridge is offered Hempstead and Nevada by Pike county, solely for the erection cost—but officials don't seem to be able to get together.

The Star is laying the facts before the public in today's issue.

The people of Pike county, which has no important trade centers, want to come across the Little Missouri river to Hope and Prescott.

The State Highway Department, completing a new bridge near Murfreesboro, is releasing the old one to be placed anywhere that Pike, Hempstead and Nevada can agree on.

Here is a three-county project that has to be accomplished if Hope is to benefit from future trade in the rich Delight river bottom section.

But it won't be accomplished unless an interested public gets behind its officials and demands action.

X X X

County money is not to be had nowadays.

Apparently the only way this can be handled is for the directors of R. F. C. funds in the three counties to back up the officials by agreeing to provide the labor, which is the largest item of expense.

As far as Hempstead is concerned, it ought to be agreeable for the northern townships adjacent to Blevins and McCaskill to see their labor quota turned to this purpose.

And because such a bridge would be of special trade advantage to them, the people along No. 29 from Blevins to Hope, the City of Hope, and the people along No. 24 from Blevins to Prescott, and the City of Prescott, should be more than willing to spend part of their quota.

X X X

There would be no special advantage to citizens of the southern part of Hempstead or Nevada, and therefore no part of their R. F. C. allotments would be available.

Enough R. F. C. money is being spent every month in the vicinity of the proposed bridge location to probably complete this project.

The crying need of the R. F. C. program is permanent projects—something that will stand years afterward as a tribute to the vast sums poured out by the federal government during these panic years.

Nothing is more worth-while than a bridge, that carries farm people into trade centers.

A river is a formidable barrier.

We are offered a chance to bridge one and for all—and if our citizens get behind the project it should be completed this summer.

Lead in Prosperity Contest Is Taken by Baptist Church

P.-T. A. Second, and Hinton Sunday School in Third Place

TO CLOSE MAY 20

Only Two Weeks Remain for $180 Prize Distribution

With less than two weeks remaining of the prosperity club contest the First Baptist church nosed out the P.-T. A. for first place.

Hinton Sunday School of Patmos and the Cemetery association polled almost as many votes during the past week, however, and advanced to third and fourth place in the list. The Washington P.-T. A. dropped out. After this week any organization not polling one thousand votes between each contest will be dropped from the contest. Votes will be counted late Thursday, and announced in the next day's paper.

Next week, the final week of the contest, the votes will be counted three times, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Closes May 20

The contest closes Saturday night, May 20, at which time the winner of the $180 to be distributed will be chosen. First prize is $100 in cash.

The new count is as follows:

First Baptist Church	93,320
Hope P.-T. A.	87,085
Hinton Sunday School	46,885
Cemetery Association	45,075
Catholic Church	36,545
Julia Chester Hospital	19,155
Henry Yerger School	10,330
First Christian Church	4,720

Co-Operation Helps

The three organizations polling the largest vote during the past week depended upon a very few individuals casting a large total of votes. It would be much easier to pile up a large vote total by getting a large number of friends and supporters of your favorite organization to get votes with all purchases from Prosperity club firms. A large number of people casting a small amount of votes will not help a larger total, while depending upon only a few people casting large numbers of votes. Most all purchases in Hope stores are for but $1 or $3 each.

This leaves an opportunity for almost any contestant to win first prize yet, if they can get a large following among shoppers for their favorite church or organization.

There remains only this and next week to decide which organization will win. Several organizations have many good members on our waiting list and with the determination of working the $100 for their favorite, and it is expected that a large number of votes will be cast during the next few days.

Mrs. N. Cornelius Dies at Age of 86

Funeral Services to Be Held at 10:30 Wednesday Morning

Mrs. Nancy Melvina Cornelius, 86, died Tuesday morning at 11:45 at the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. E. H. Montgomery. She had been in ill health for a number of weeks.

Georgia-born, she moved to Nevada county with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Davis, when only a small child. In 1865 she married Henry N. Cornelius. They settled near Prescott and later moved to Hope. At that time her husband operated the second store to be established here.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the home of George Cornelius, South Shover street. Burial will follow in Oakdale cemetery.

Surviving are one brother, Will Davis of Hope; four sons, Monte of Gilliam, La.; Rube, of Bodcaw; John and George, of Hope.

Three daughters, Mrs. Carl Maaz, Waco, Texas; Mrs. Ella Bray and Mrs. L. F. Boswell, of Hope. A number of grand and great grandchildren also survive.

Futrell Suggests State Pay for One, Local Taxes, Other

Governor Outlines Constitutional Change for Arkansas' Schools

GUARANTEE GRADES

But Would Leave High School Up to Local Community

LITTLE ROCK — (AP) — Governor Futrell in an address before a group of school - curriculum experts Tuesday said the state ought to undertake to maintain the common school system through state taxation, leaving the operation and maintenance of high schools to local districts through local taxation only.

A new common school system, through a constitutional amendment "so it cannot be changed by every governor said, should be set up legislature." "My mind is made up on the matter," he added.

The governor told the experts assembled in the office of the State Department of Education that he planned to appoint a commission to receive suggestions from all sides in a solution of the school problems.

For Constitution Change

"I am not wedded to any particular idea," the governor said. "Except that my mind is made up, that whatever plan is decided upon for the school system it ought to be a part of the constitutional setup."

Prefacing his address with the statement he believed tax delinquencies this year would amount to 60 per cent, he said referring specifically to Act 289 "the whole law ought to be changed."

Calls Special Election

LITTLE ROCK — (AP) — Governor Futrell Tuesday called a special election for July 18 to fill any vacancies in state, district and county offices.

This coincides with the date of the referendum on the 18th amendment repealer.

Playground Drive To Open Tuesday; Under Way June 5

Legion Auxiliary Committee Asking Donations for Free Program

TO RUN 3 MONTHS

Mrs. C. Wilkins Will Direct 5 Days a Week Through Summer

Hope's drive for an organized playground program at Fair park this summer will be launched Tuesday by a canvassing committee of the American Legion Auxiliary.

The committee is visiting local business houses and individuals, soliciting donations for support of the summer playground. Mrs. Wilkins will be direct organized play, and the Fair grounds are being put in shape.

The city council gave the Auxiliary the use of the city property, and will also permit use of the city's teams for grading work at spare times.

Canvassing of the city, which started Tuesday, is being handled by the following committee:

Mrs. Ched Hall, Mrs. H. O. Kyler, Mrs. Arthur Swanke and Mrs. Cecil Weaver, Mrs. Burgher Jones and Mrs. M. V. Gunn.

Mrs. Wilkins has completed a tentative schedule for the playground season, which will open the first Monday in June, the 5th. Programs will run from Monday of each week through Friday, and will continue through June, July and August.

New Utility Probe Body Takes Action

U. S. Supreme Court Opens Way for Lower Utility Valuations

LITTLE ROCK—The Fact Finding Tribunal of the Arkansas Corporation Commission, created by Act 79 of 1933 to investigate the rate structure of Arkansas utility concerns, begins its first investigation Tuesday at Helena in response to a petition of the Helena city council to look into the gas, water and electric rates of the Arkansas Utilities Company.

George L. Hess, tribunal engineer, and Frank L. Eaton, accountant member, left Little Rock Monday to make a preliminary survey of the company to determine the amount of research necessary to begin the actual investigation, which will start in a few days. They will return to Little Rock by the end of the week to confer with F. A. Lasley, chairman of the tribunal, upon the number of engineers, accountants and technicians needed.

The tribunal will investigate the basis of rates now charged by the utility company and then present its findings to city council, Mr. Lasley said. The company will be furnished a copy of the findings and will have an opportunity to appeal for any other investigation if the city council takes the matter into court to have the rates reduced.

Last Sunday, Alex. H. Washburn, publisher of The Star, met Judge Maurney, of Pike county, at his home near Murfreesboro. Here is Pike county's offer:

1. The old iron bridge, originally costing $27,000, will be donated by Pike county.

2. Pike county will contribute $700 toward the erection cost.

3. The State Highway Department will take the bridge down and deliver it free to its new location.

4. Pike county will build a road on the approach on its side, leading into Murfreesboro.

5. The erection cost, to be borne by either Hempstead or Nevada counties, or both, will be made the contractors' bid on three of medium-sized piers, and the approach on this side. Labor will be the principal item.

Valuable for Trade

Although backed off by the problem of financing the labor cost, the proposition is interesting in that it is considered the bridge proposal is valuable aid to trade, territory development.

The Little Missouri river cuts off Delight from the rich blacklands farming district in southern Pike county. Prescott, equally cut off, might possibly be drawn into the trade movement, giving both counties a way across the river.

State highway No. 29, the Lewisville-Blevins road, terminates at Blevins. Construction of a new Little Missouri bridge would extend this road into Delight, giving Hope a direct shot at Pike county trade.

State Highway No. 24, the Prescott-Blevins road, intersects No. 29 at Blevins, giving Prescott an equally good competitive position.

Conferences apparently have shown that the only chance to put the project over is through the co-operation of all three county judges, the State Highway Department, and the directors of R. F. C. labor in the three counties.

If taken advantage of by public utility commissioners everywhere, it is thought that the supreme court's decision leaves the way open for a general revaluation of utility properties.

Second-Hand Span to Be Available for Hempstead, Nevada

Bridge Replaced by State at Murfreesboro Offered Free by Pike Co. Judge

PAY FOR ERECTION

Is Possible as 3-County Project If R. F. C. Will Furnish Labor

Pike county is offering Hempstead and Nevada a free bridge across the Little Missouri river between Blevins and Delight, but negotiations have come to a deadlock because of the failure of the three counties to agree on erection costs.

The bridge, an old iron structure on No. 27 between Nashville and Murfreesboro, will be replaced June 15th by a new steel-and-concrete bridge now nearly completed by the State Highway Department.

Title to the old iron bridge then reverts to Pike county, and the Pike county judge, Walter J. Mauney, has been petitioned by citizens of the lower end of his county to place it for convenient access to Hope or Prescott, or both.

When Judge Mauney announced several weeks ago that he had an offer from Nevada county authorities to swing the bridge location northeast toward Prescott, virtually killing the Hope connection, citizens from the Hope end of the county got busy and organized a north Hempstead county committee headed by Dr. G. E. Gentry, of McCaskill, at The Star office to discuss a counter-offer by Hempstead.

No County Money

At that time it was learned that Nevada's offer depended on R. F. C. labor funds rather than county money, and Judge H. M. Stephens, of Hempstead, informed the local group that there was no county money available for either, and he was pledging for the last campaign not to use any county money on a bridge project like the Blevins one, and that therefore Hempstead's share of the erection cost would have to be made through private subscription or R. F. C. funds.

The Hope committee will also sponsor a private solicitation, and made no public statement at that time.

Last Sunday, Alex. H. Washburn, publisher of The Star, met Judge Maurney, of Pike county, at his home near Murfreesboro. Here is Pike county's offer:

1. The old iron bridge, originally costing $27,000, will be donated by Pike county.

2. Pike county will contribute $700 toward the erection cost.

3. The State Highway Department will take the bridge down and deliver it free to its new location.

True Happiness in Salvation, Crimm

Evangelist Denounces Doctrine Some Are Born to Damnation

Interest in the tabernacle revival continues, with large crowds responding to services Sunday and Monday nights. The crowd Sunday night was possibly the largest so far to greet the Rev. B. R. Crimm, revival evangelist.

He spoke Monday night of salvation, conviction and forgiveness. He said:

"I don't believe in that spurious doctrine that God elects some to be saved and some to be damned. For whosoever shall call on the name of the Lord, shall be saved." We were elected in Jesus Christ before the foundation of the world and we enjoy and experience that salvation when we accept the election by faith in Him."

"Many are trying to find contentment in pleasure. The world is pleasure-mad. But pleasure will never satisfy.

"You may drink at the fountain of pleasure only to drink the bitter dregs of a wasted life, your body ruined and your soul lost. Education cannot satisfy. Mr. Edison, with one of the greatest minds that America has ever produced, was asked by a reporter once if he was happy. Mr. Edison replied: 'There is no happiness in this life.'

"Poor old man, he never looked at the right source of true happiness and contentment.

"Hear me. All true happiness and contentment is found at the foot of the Cross of Jesus Christ. The end of the rainbow is at the Cross and the pot of gold is an old-fashioned case of Holy Ghost religion.

"God help you to realize it and find the Christ at Calvary and thus bring true happiness to your soul in the knowledge of sins forgiven.

"Let the wicked forsake his way, and the unrighteous man his thoughts: and let him return unto the Lord, and He will have mercy upon him.

"There is a difference between a wicked man and an unrighteous man. The drunkard is wicked. The immoral man is wicked. The Sabbath breaker and the gambler is wicked and so on. The unrighteous man is the man who does not live a wicked life of self indulgence such as these, but lives a good moral life, without Jesus Christ."

Farm Bill Passes House, to Senate

Production - Cost Guarantee Killed Out in Lower Chamber

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The house stood squarely by the administration Tuesday, rejecting the cost-production amendment to the vast farm relief bill.

It approved the rest of the measure and put it up to the senate where a quick agreement is expected.

The senate's action, due Wednesday, will be the last step necessary to send the bill to the president for signature.

The provision rejected by the house would have guaranteed the farmer his production costs.

May Cut Rail Labor

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Joseph B. Eastman, interstate commerce commissioner, told a senate committee Tuesday that the administration's railroad relief bill "will involve the loss of employment to railroad labor."

But he added that it was "an unusual conclusion that employment should be preserved by retaining waste and inefficiency."

Eastman is mentioned as a possible choice for federal co-orinator of the railroads under the Roosevelt plan.

Trade Truce Likely

LONDON, Eng.—(AP)—Prime Minister MacDonald announced in the House of Commons Tuesday that there was every prospect of reaching an agreement between Britain and the United States as to the advisability of an immediate tariff truce to last throughout the world economic conference.

The economic conference begins here June 12. It was preceded by independent conferences by the representatives of 21 nations with President Roosevelt last month.

S. V. Collins Is Fatally Stricken

Drops Dead of Acute Indigestion—Funeral Held at 2 P. M. Tuesday

Stricken by an attack of acute indigestion, S. V. Collins, 62, for more than 15 years a resident of Hope, died suddenly at his home at 10:30 Monday afternoon while at work at the J. L. Williams Lumber company on East Second street.

A fellow workman saw Mr. Collins fall and he suddenly expired on the ground. Efforts to revive him were unsuccessful.

Mr. Collins was born at Eros, La. He moved with his family to Pine Bluff, Ark., and from there came to Hempstead county 16 years ago.

Funeral services were held at 2 o'clock Tuesday afternoon at the Furniture company undertaking parlors, conducted by Rev. Bert Walker.

Rev. Rogers, pastor of the First Baptist church. Burial followed in Water Creek cemetery, six miles west of Hope.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. W. H. Howell of Arkadelphia; and Miss Nellie Collins of Dallas; two sons, Hubert Collins of Memphis, and Lyfus of Hope.

Pallbearers were O. L. and C. W. of Los Angeles, and C. C. Collins of Hope. One aunt also survives, Mrs. C. C. Frew of Hope.

Tulane Grid Star Killed in Boxing

Jack Holland Succumbs Following Bout at New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS, La.—(AP)—Jack Holland, who turned professional boxer after a brilliant football career at Tulane, died in a hospital here Tuesday from what physicians described as a cerebral hemorrhage.

Holland, former Southern A. A. U. lightheavyweight champ, fell unconscious following a bout Monday night with Tony Harullo, of New Orleans. He never regained consciousness.

Holland lost his six-round bout to Marullo on a decision. Holland weighed 164 and Marullo 172½. The former champion was knocked down for the count of nine in the last round and got up apparently exhausted, finished the fight and left the ring.

A physician diagnosing his collapse said he suffered symptoms of cerebral hemorrhage.

Poppy Drive Will Be Held May 27

Proceeds Will Go to Aid of Hospitalized War Veterans

Saturday, May 27, has been set by the Auxiliary as the date on which members will canvass the city, selling poppies in memory of the soldiers who fought in the World war. Money derived from the sale will be used for the benefit of veterans now confined in hospitals.

In an effort to raise money for child's welfare work the Auxiliary members Monday discussed a possible benefit bridge party to be held at the Saenger theater in which the public may participate. No definite date was fixed, however.

A state meeting of Auxiliary members will be held in Little Rock Saturday. Mrs. H. O. Kyler, president of the local post, indicated that she would attend.
